Super Forts Raid Manchuria in First Day Attack

JAP FACTORIES NEAR MUKDEN BOMB TARGETS

Big Planes Attack Chemical Works at Anshan, City of 200,000 People.

By The Associated Press

A SUPER FORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, July 29—B-29 Super Fortresses today bombed Anshan in eastern Manchuria.

In the first daylight assault of their long-ranging super-bombers, the weather was reported favorable for the success of the masked raiders, which loosed bombs from high altitudes.

Anshan, city of 200,000 in the Mukden industrial region of Manchuria, is one of the most important producers of chemical by-products vital to Japan's manufacture of munitions. Its output includes sizeable percentages of the total empire production of benzene, toluene, phenol and synthetic oils. The mills there are the second largest producers of pig iron and the third largest of rolled steel and steel ingots in the empire.

Liberators Sink Ships

(At the same time a communique from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that American Liberators in a sea sweep had sunk a 4,000-ton Japanese naval vessel and two freighters and damaged another freighter off Hongkong.

(Chinese reports from Chungking said Japanese authorities in Formosa had initiated compulsory evacuation of non-essential residents from centers of the island vulnerable to air attack.)

The large force of B-29's took off in a brilliant, lacquered-red dawn, which followed a thunderstorm, and hours later, the force broke its radio silence, flashed the code word saying bombs were away over the target area, and reporting the giant planes had wheeled for the long homeward journey.

Significantly the great heavy bombers again singled out heavy installations as their primary targets in this powerful smash to the heart of Japan's "greater East Asia arsenal."

Two Previous Raids

On the two previous operations of the B-29's, major installations also were the targets—at Yawata June 15, and at Yawata and Sasebo, third largest Japanese naval base, July 7.

Both these attacks on Kyushu island in the Japanese homeland had been night, low-level smashes. Today's mission was the first strike at Manchuria from the air and the first daylight bombing of Japanese targets from high altitudes.

Huge billows of smoke from the industrial area at Anshan blackened the target, which sticks out prominently in the Manchurian plain. It was estimated officially that it will take 12 months to rebuild some of the intricate installations.

5 Cent Cup of Coffee Coming Back Monday

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 29—The five-cent cup of coffee, an old American institution the war changed in some restaurants, will be back in some places next Monday.

As announced earlier by the office of price administration, only eating places that charged more than a nickel for coffee in October, 1942, may continue to do so. All later hikes to six or seven cents or more are out.

The ruling is part of a regulation extending to the entire country the "freeze" of restaurant prices already in effect in most states.

LEADING U. S. ACE REPORTED MISSING

By The Associated Press

OIL CITY, Pa., July 29—The parents of Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, top scoring ace in the U. S. air force with 31 planes to his credit, were notified by the war department today that he has been "missing in action" since July 20.

A war department telegram, signed "Ulio, adjutant general," said:

"The secretary of war desires me to express deep regret that your son, Lt. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, has been reported missing in action since July 20 over Germany.

"As further details or other information are received you will be promptly notified."

Up to July 20, Lt. Col. Gabreski had shot down 28 planes in the air and destroyed three on the ground.

The message came as a great shock to the flier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabryszewski.

OPEN NAZI LINE NEAR FLORENCE

New Zealand Troops Knife Through Defenses To Drive 5 Miles from City.

By The Associated Press

ROME, July 29—Desert-hardened New Zealand veterans have cracked Nazi defenses south of Florence and knifed their way into the last mountain line only five miles from the historic city, allied headquarters announced today.

The break-through provoked strong German counterattacks, and bitter fighting was reported in the hills overlooking Florence.

Momentum of the savage counter-thrusts by Nazi infantry and Tiger tanks swept the leading company of New Zealanders back 600 yards, but official reports said the enemy then was brought to a halt and positions in the hills were being firmly held.

The threat to Florence also grew as South African troops crossed the Greve river, two miles south of Impruneta, which is only five and a half miles from the city's boundaries.

Aside from the bitter fighting in the New Zealanders' sector there was scant fighting of consequence yesterday along the remainder of the Italian front.

Official reports said the situation on the Fifth army front was unchanged, with American and German artillery continuing a duel across the lower Arno river. No mention was made of whether either side was shelling the city of Pisa after a plea by Pope Pius for consideration of its historical and religious significance.

One extreme left wing of the Eighth army was within two miles of Empoli, on the south banks of the Arno nearly 30 miles east of Pisa and within 2½ miles of Monte Lupo.

Maish Houseworth, County's Last Vet of Civil War, Dies

Maish Houseworth, 98, former resident of Waldo, and the last veteran on Marion county's roster of Civil war soldiers, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Addie Strine of Wilcox avenue in Columbus.

He was the stepfather of W. C. Selanders of 223 Pearl street.

Mr. Houseworth enlisted at Waldo as a soldier when he was around 15 years of age. He entered the service in the early years of the war and served for the duration.

He lived in Waldo all his life until several years ago when he went to live with Mrs. Strine. Before his retirement he was employed at a lumber yard and also was engaged in farming. Mrs. Houseworth died 18 years ago.

Surviving with Mrs. Strine and Mr. Selanders are three grandchildren, one great-grandchild and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p. m. in the Groll funeral home at Waldo. Burial will be made in Waldo cemetery.

U.S. Tanks Meet Nazis in Great Battle Today

Fierce Armored Clashes Rage East of Captured Coutances as Rommel Tries To Stop Americans.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, JULY 29—Hammering back initial armored counterattacks in fierce battles, U. S. tanks drove to the Sienne river seven miles south of Coutances today and brought the enemy's road hub of Brehal within gun range.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, JULY 29—U. S. tanks clashed with counterattacking German armor in fierce battles along a ten-mile sector east of captured Coutances today as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel reacted violently to the American offensive threatening to burst his lines blocking the way to the heart of France.

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported more than a dozen tank duels raged in a broad triangular area between Canisy, Notre Dame-Le Cenilly, and Tessy-Sur-Vire, from which American tank spearheads are lancing southward.

Fighting centered around the hamlet of Pont Brocard, on a highway between Canisy and Notre Dame, after the Americans jumped off at dawn on the fifth successive day of their offensive.

(The British radio said a tank column was driving on Brehal, 11 miles below Coutances and 2½ miles from the sea. All main coastwise roads meet at Brehal. As heard originally by CBS the broadcast said the tanks had reached Brehal, but this later was corrected by BBC.)

The classic encircling movement which forced the enemy from his strong hedgerow and swamp positions above Coutances was being repeated, and one tank column drove westward to the sea below that Normandy road center.

Tank elements in a column miles long hammered on six miles south of Coutances as a U. S. general on foot, with a prisoner he personally captured, led triumphant American forces into the city.

(NBC Reporter John McVane broadcast from France this morning that the Germans had counter-attacked with tanks south of Tessy-Sur-Vire, half way to the next good enemy communications center of Vire, and were beaten back after they "broke through momentarily.")

The U. S. Ninth air force reported more than 180 German tanks were knocked out of action Wednesday and Thursday and 242 other vehicles were destroyed in attacks on strongpoints and troop concentrations.

Rommel Shifts Units

Rommel apparently had decided at last to shift part of the armor which he has been holding south of Caen to meet any impending blow from Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces. Observers reported a movement of enemy vehicles yesterday along lateral roads toward the American sector from the Caen area, where Rommel had concentrated at least six tank divisions. When the American blow fell there were no more than two armored enemy divisions among the 12 deployed against U. S. troops, according to unofficial estimates.

Thus far 5,000 German prisoners were reported taken, and Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's men were 15 to 20 miles south of their jumpoff line of last Tuesday.

Of the prisoners, it was estimated that 1,500 were rounded up yesterday. Since Tuesday the Americans have overrun nearly 300 square miles of territory, equal to nearly a quarter of the total taken by all allied forces in the previous seven weeks of the invasion.

Push Down Vire River

Due south of St. Lo another American spearhead pushed down the Vire river from captured Tessy-Sur-Vire toward the key communications center of Vire, 12 miles away. On the section of the 40-mile front east of St. Lo the road to Berigny and Bayeux was cleared of Germans. St. Jean-De-Baisants on the lateral St. Lo-Caumont highway and Vidouville were captured.

There was no evidence that any large number of Germans was caught in the Coutances area pocket formed by the junction of the westward thrust and the drives southward from the region of Lessay and Periers.

Absence of a pronounced delaying action in Rommel's precipitous withdrawal was interpreted by some as indicating he had had time to evacuate the pocket.

However, the Yank onslaught was so rapid and was penetrating so deeply into the ranks of the retreating Germans it looks as if Rommel well may have lost as many men outside the pocket as he might have in it.

The spearhead that closed the Coutances pocket reached the sea south of the Sienne river estuary

Second Tinian Airfield Taken

On Guam Americans Tighten Grip on 2,000 Japs; Foe Loses 27,000 Men.

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, July 29—Capturing a second airfield, American forces today chased fleeing Japanese into the south half of Tinian island while other Yanks tightened a trap on 2,000 Nips at Guam, swelling the total of more than 27,000 of the enemy killed in the Marianas.

Impressive ground gains on both islands were reported by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and front line correspondents.

The Marine drive on Tinian, the island next to conquered Saipan, was turning into a rout. Sweeping across eight square miles in a move on shell-shattered Tinian town, the Leathernecks at times lost all contact with the Japanese, who were racing toward eventual death in the hilly south sector.

On Guam, Marines and soldiers punched 500 more yards out on Orote peninsula, pushing closer to the seaward end the 2,000 Nips doomed to die in defense of an airfield and the Sumay naval base. The defenders hold less than half the peninsula on Guam's west coast.

Yanks Drive Inland

North and south of the peninsula, the Yanks crashed inland for gains up to two miles. They threw back a fierce counterattack, killing 2,000 Japs. They moved within 800 yards of Agana, Guam's capital city. They

G.O.P. CAMPAIGN TO COVER COUNTRY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 29—The Republican standard bearers—Thomas E. Dewey and John W. Bricker—will "cover the whole country in their election campaign," Governor Bricker said here.

Bricker, who returned yesterday from a two-day visit in Albany, N. Y., with the Republican presidential nominee, party chairman Herbert Brownell Jr. and others, said they planned to begin their campaign about Sept. 1.

"We're going to cover the whole country," he said. "There will be no halfway campaign. It will be complete, thorough and aggressive all the way."

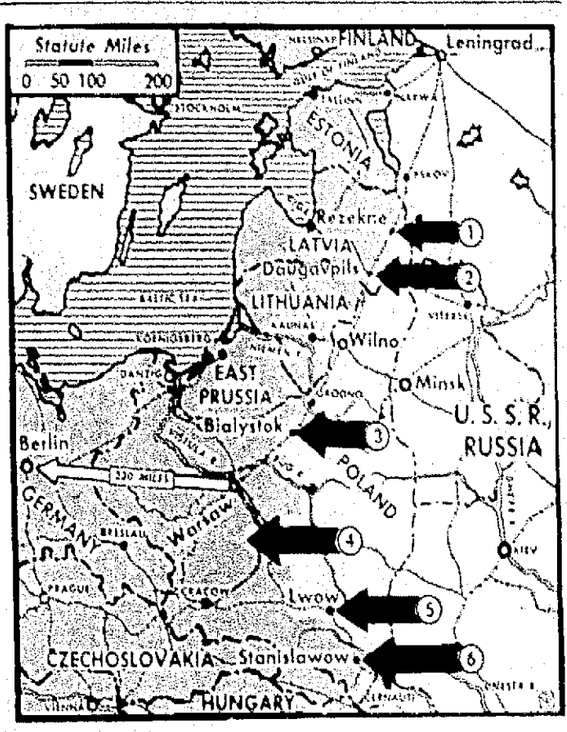
Asked if the Republican strategists had made any plans about invading the "solid south," particularly those states where dissatisfaction had cropped out during the Democratic national convention, Bricker replied: "That will be determined as the campaign progresses."

Dewey will likely come into Ohio for "one or two speeches," Bricker said.

BERLIN WIRES OPEN

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, July 29—Stockholm communications with Berlin were normal again today, after having been cut off since Friday, probably because of an illied air attack on central Germany. Telephone communications between Sweden and Switzerland still are cut.



REDS AT WARSAW—Russian troops are at the gates of Warsaw, Polish capital, according to today's dispatches, and this places the onrushing Reds approximately 230 miles from Berlin, as shown in the map above. Arrows in the map point to places captured by the Reds in a one-day advance, the greatest single day's sweep made by them since the start of the present gigantic offensive. These points are: (1) Rezekne, important rail junction northeast of Daugavpils; (2) Daugavpils, third largest Latvian city with a population of 45,000; (3) Bialystok, Polish city of 91,000 guarding approach to Warsaw; (4) thrust closer to Warsaw; (5) Lwow, city of 317,000 population and third largest in Poland; (6) Stanislawow, an important center 65 miles southeast of Lwow.

German Synthetic Oil Plants Bombed Second Successive Day

1,100 Heavy U. S. Bombers Hammer Leuna Works at Merseburg; RAF Sends 1,000 on Night Attack.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 29—A force of 1,100 American heavy bombers struck Germany's Leuna synthetic oil plant at Merseburg for the second successive day this morning, and also attacked the northwestern port of Bremen.

The blow was in the wake of an attack by 1,000 heavy British warplanes which blasted Stuttgart, Hamburg, Frankfurt and buzz-bomb bases in France last night at a cost of 62 planes.

An air ministry communique said the night bombers were engaged in numerous combats over the reich by German night fighters and that the British shot down at least 21 German planes and many more probably were destroyed or damaged.

Other British planes carried out attacks on Nazi supply depots near Watten and Pas De Calais. Mines also were laid in enemy waters.

The Nazi air communique said thick clouds obscured bombing results over Stuttgart, which previously had been battered three times in a week, but returning crews reported large fires were left burning in the Hamburg target area.

The RAF assault followed intense aerial operations yesterday during which some 1,500 American heavy bombers from British and Italian bases hit Nazi oil centers at Ploesti and Merseburg.

Transocean, Nazi news agency, said strong Russian air attacks were made against Kirkenes, on the northern tip of Norway, where bombers with strong fighter protection penetrated the harbor area. The Germans declared 14 bombers were shot down.

The Russian communique told of heavy air attacks on the Warsaw suburbs, the rail junction of Insterburg in East Prussia, and Krupstpils on the Latvian railroad line between Daugavpils and Riga. The main Soviet targets were rail lines, trains and supplies.

A German occupied village in the Brest peninsula believed to be a German headquarters was wiped out by RAF Spitfire fighter bombers in an attack at Breakfast time this morning.

The village of Serignac, consisting of between 300 and 400 houses, had been evacuated of the civilian population and a German garrison had been installed.

The only building left standing after the bombing was a church, which pilots reported remained amid a great heap of rubble.

WAVES OF ROBOTS HIT BRITAIN TODAY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 29—The Nazis adopted a new "mass attack" technique in hurling flying bombs at London and southern England during the night, sending the robots over in batches with brief lulls between each onslaught.

The attacks took a fresh toll of casualties, including patients in a hospital which was damaged badly.

Among the victims were nurses, some of whom despite their injuries, helped volunteer rescue squads carry patients from the hospital under showers of sparks and red hot embers.

The back part of the hospital was wrecked, the main force of the bomb hitting an adjoining building that caught fire. The basement of a nearby warehouse was turned into an emergency hospital.

Workers spent most of the night digging for bodies at the spot where a flying bomb blew up a crowded restaurant at noon yesterday, killing and trapping a number of persons.

It was estimated that 200,000 persons had left London for safer havens in the country—far more than the number evacuated in 1941 during the blitzkrieg.

Despite the toll taken by the flying bombs, a poll conducted by the Daily Express showed only a bare majority of those under attack in southern England favored reprisals. The poll found 54 per cent in favor, 42 per cent against and 4 per cent in doubt.

City Council To Act On Hospital Pay Increases

A special meeting of city council has been called for tonight at 7:30 to deal with the recommendations of the hospital committee of council, which, in a conference with a committee of hospital nurses last Monday night recommended salary increases that amount to $1,000 a month. The recommendations were agreed upon after the nurses confronted council with a threat to walk out unless some assurance of salary adjustments was given.

OTHER FORCES TAKE JELGAVA, SPLIT BALKANS

Red Cavalry, Tanks and Scout Cars Advancing on Polish Capital.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 29—Red army spearheads rolling across the Polish plain were reported within sight of Warsaw today and the German communique said other Soviet forces had penetrated the Latvian rail hub of Jelgava, which would practically bisect the Baltics.

The German bulletin said a Nazi counterattack had thrown the Russian vanguard out of Jelgava, 120 miles northwest of Daugavpils (Dvinsk) and about 21 miles southwest of Riga on an arm of the Baltic sea.

British dispatches from the eastern front said Warsaw could be seen by advance Soviet forces in the Polish offensive, made up of cavalry, scout cars and tanks.

Fighting apparently raged on in the vicinity of Jelgava as the Russians threatened to pinch off German Baltic divisions by gaining mastery of the rail line from Siauliai to Kaunas. The Russians already held Siauliai, 50 miles south of Jelgava.

The Germans declared they still held Siedlce, 50 miles east of Warsaw, but Russian dispatches said Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's right wing was moving on the city for the purpose of joining forces which were battling Germans in the streets after capturing Brest Litovsk. Dispatches did not locate the Russian spearhead positions.

As Ukrainian army units to the south seized Jaroslaw and Przemysl, Nazi strongholds on the route to Germany, Rokossovsky's advance units stabbed forward during the night from Kolbiel, 20 miles southeast of Warsaw, and powerful artillery pieces behind them were wheeled into position.

(A London broadcast recorded by OWI said Russian troops had reached "the outer fortifications of Warsaw," quoting Moscow press dispatches.)

Cossacks Mop Up

The marshal left units under Kuban Cossack Gen. Pliev to help special mopping up squads take care of three Nazi divisions pinned against the western Bug river. Field dispatches said it was the same old story—thousands of Germans waiting too long to retreat.

Upwards of 20,000 Nazis were believed hemmed in, with escape virtually out of the question. With Brest Litovsk captured, Rokossovsky freed numerous units for fighting against Siedlce.

In northern Lithuania, the Russians plunged to within 50 miles of Riga, Latvian seaport on the Baltic, with the capture of Jonikis, 23 miles north of the rail junction of Siauliai. A German army estimated at perhaps 300,000 was imperiled in Estonia and Latvia with the cutting of the main Nazi rail route to East Prussia.

In the south, the Nazi strongholds of Jaroslaw and Przemysl fell to the Russian Ukraine forces thrusting toward Krakow on the main trunk railway to Germany. A march into Czecho-Slovakia through the Carpathian mountain passes loomed.

A dispatch from the army newspaper Red Star said long lines of Poles, driving wagons and carts, riding bicycles and pushing baby carriages piled with household goods, were following the Soviet forces as they moved toward Warsaw.

Await Warsaw Attack

Moscow waited to see whether Rokossovsky would choose to make frontal assault upon Warsaw, or make a feint here and throw thousands of troops across the Vistula southeast of the city for a march upon Germany itself.

A battle for the upper Niemen river was taking shape in the Soviet Baltic republics.

Front dispatches said Nazi rearguards sought to hold off Soviet forces pushing south on the river, but added that Gen. Ivan Bagramian's tanks drove through them while his cavalry cut them to pieces.

There were indications that the Germans had placed great numbers of infantry along the Niemen river from Tilsit to Kaunas, in an effort to stage a battle for East

Thou Shalt Not Murder

A Sermonette
By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN
Pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church

Text—Ex 20:13 "Thou shalt not kill"

OUR aim in dealing with the [illegible] subject of killing is not any way to [illegible] a point of controversy. But we are [illegible] asked in answering the question [illegible] Christian [illegible] to [illegible] in the [illegible] Lord [illegible] or be guilty of [illegible] section and [illegible] eternal [illegible] God [illegible] [illegible] God never justified under any circumstance. Surely it would [illegible] when a person feels that he is being led to give up the hope of salvation in defending his country.

Let us turn to the Word of God especially to the book of Exodus, where the commandments are recorded. The fifth commandment, some number of the twenty, says, "Thou shalt not kill." Were one to take his Hebrew Bible, (the old Testament text given to us by God in the Hebrew language), he would discover that the Hebrew word used here, not the usual word used for killing. Here the word is "ratsach," and it carries a much stronger meaning than that of kill. It really means "murder". Hence, the fifth commandment can be translated, "Thou shalt not commit murder," or, "Thou shall do no murder." Therefore, it follows that Christians can bear arms, can be good and faithful soldiers in the service of their country, can go out and kill, and still not sacrifice their immortal souls in so doing. And all because God forbids all murder, but does not forbid all killing.

Since God forbids all murder, but not all killing, it follows that:

I. GOD CONSIDERS MURDER WRONG AT ALL TIMES.

God absolutely forbids murder. It is always wrong, always a sin in His sight. Murder can never be justified under any circumstances. Naturally, that leads us to want to know the difference between killing and murder. There is a difference, and the Bible, in using Hebrew words for "killing" and "murder," makes that difference very plain. To murder a person means to take his life, but to take it in a spirit of hatred and malice. Murder is committed in the sight of God when human life has been taken, and the person who did the deed was motivated by hatred and malice and ill-will. Murder means that the guilty one planned and premeditated the horrible offense. Our own civil courts recognize this difference between murder and killing. We may accidentally take the life of a human being. Such tragedies do happen. But we are not convicted of murder, unless the courts prove that we planned to do that deed, that we premeditated the whole affair, that we intended to do it, wanted to do it, and were filled with malice. Unless these things can be proved, the case is declared an accident, and even though we have killed, have taken human life, we are acquitted and not proved guilty of murder.

When a Christian bears arms and in doing so, must kill the enemy, he himself must decide whether he is murdering or killing. God asks him to keep hatred out of his heart, malice, ill-will. To say this is easy is not true. It is most difficult under the stress of war for a Christian to keep malice from his heart. But with the help of Christ it is possible. Jesus was able to do it, and by their asking Him for strength, Stephen and Peter and Paul and a great host of others were able to do likewise. Hence, when a Christian soldier fights and kills, and watches that he is not committing murder, he in no way whatever jeopardizes his eternal welfare in Christ. A Christian can

II. GOD SANCTIONS KILLING UNDER CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES.

God does allow the taking of human life under certain circumstances. God does not allow any one who will be with Him to go to heaven because he does it. Though God allows the taking of human life, not only does the circumstance show that He allows it, but in Genesis 9:6 we read, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by MAN shall his blood be shed." Here God lays down the principle of capital punishment, the taking of a person's life who has committed murder. God here does not merely allow capital punishment, he demands it. To protect human life, God demands that when a person has murdered another, that his life also be taken, and be taken by man. And God put this power of taking the life of the murderers into the hands of the courts and the officers of the law. In Romans 13:4, where Paul, writing by inspiration of God, is talking about subjection to civil authority, it reads, "He (that is the government) beareth not the sword in vain." Hence, the government, when it puts a murderer to death, does not sin, does not violate God's law, but actually carries out the will of God.

Now, when not one person, but an entire nation determines to invade another country and to seize and steal property, and to murder human beings in doing so, God's law still applies. Then the nation that has been attacked has the authority to defend itself, to kill the murderers that have been guilty of such a horrible crime. Thus God certainly allows a nation to defend itself against murderers. But here again, each person engaged in war must personally take care lest in killing he become a murderer. To keep hatred from the heart in defending one's country from aggression is a task that no human being can accomplish by himself; he needs to pray daily to Christ for a clean heart, for saving grace, for strength and comfort. But Christians can kill under certain circumstances, as in war, and still not sacrifice their eternal welfare.

Let us pray God in the name of Jesus Christ to banish war and bloodshed. Let us ask God, if it be His will, to bless our nation with victory. Let us earnestly and daily bring to the throne of grace the welfare of our boys and girls who are defending our glorious country. But let us also be assured that Christians can bear arms, be good soldiers, and kill if need be, and still not lose their blood-bought salvation in Christ Jesus. And all because God forbids murder, but under certain circumstances, which He Himself names, allows and sanctions killing!

"The Great Sacrifice" will be the subject of a sermon by Rev. W. E. Budgett in the Sunday evening service at the Marion Gospel Center. It is the thirteenth in a series entitled "The Apostles' Creed."

"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Marion Church of Christ, Scientist Sunday. It will have for the golden text: "Let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise loving-kindness, judgment and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 9: 24).

Mrs. J. Eugene Auld and I. H. Taylor will present a duet, "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod, in the Sunday morning worship service at Trinity Baptist church.

WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 29—Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson, an antique doll dealer, pleaded guilty yesterday in U. S. district court to a charge of violating the wartime censorship law by sending a coded letter to South America—a letter containing information about naval vessels hidden in obscure phrases. She faces a maximum sentence Aug. 14 of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

SEE BREAK IMMINENT

By The Associated Press

The German radio, adding to reports that a break in Turkish-German relations was imminent, said today that a complete suspension of Turkish shipping had taken place along with "numerous draftings" of men into the Turkish army and that Turkish summer maneuvers were close military secrets.

Our Funeral Home Is At Your Disposal Without Charge

We know you have often wondered why we make no extra charge for the use of our Funeral Home in time of bereavement.

For one reason, we feel that we can serve the bereaved family better in surroundings with which we are familiar.

We also save in wear and tear on our equipment and autos. So from the standpoint of manpower, time and equipment conservation, we can operate just as economically as in the private home. However we are ever open minded and the ultimate decision rests with the bereaved family.

IN MEMORY OF

*Guy McAdams who died four years ago today, July 29, 1940.

Time speeds on, four years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow, cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light
We miss that light, and ever will.
His vacant place there is none to fill
Down here we mourn, but not in vain.
For up in heaven we will meet again.

Social Affairs

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Dorothy McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy McClure of south of Marion, to Pfc. Henry S. Rigo, son of Mrs. Henri S. Rigo of Cleveland, took place yesterday at 3:30 p. m. in Trinity Baptist church. The double ring service was read by Dr. Warren P. Behan before an altar of palms and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece street length dress of white linen with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

Miss Ruth McClure, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her dress was of pink linen. She wore a corsage of rosebuds and blue delphinium.

Miss Helen Louise McClure, youngest sister of the bride, wearing a chiffon dress of blue, was junior bridesmaid. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink asters.

Thomas E. Hoffner Jr. of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., was best man. The ushers were Paul Smith and Delmar Brewer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McClure chose a dress of white and orchid jersey with white accessories. Mrs. Rigo wore a dress of gray with black accessories. They both wore corsages of talisman rose buds.

A half hour of wedding music preceded the ceremony. Mrs. Cecil Davis played "Because" by Hardelot, "Indian Love Call" from "La Estrellita," Ponce, "Serenade" Schubert, "Rose Marie" from "Oh Promise Me" De Koven. Miss Rhea Jean McClure, sister of the bride, sang "One Alone" Romberg, "My Dear" Stern, "The Lord's Prayer" Stebbins. The traditional wedding marches were played and during the ceremony Mrs. Davis played "I Love You Truly" Bond.

Mr. Rigo is a graduate of Pleasant Township School and Ohio University at Athens. She has been teaching home economics at the Prospect School. After a short wedding trip the bride will take a position as District Home Service Director with the Gas Co. in Athens. While attending Ohio University she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and is affiliated with Beta Gamma Chapter of Lambda Chi Omega.

Pfc. Rigo has been stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., with the Army engineers. He will go to Camp Reynolds, Pa. He has attended Adelbert college of Western Reserve University, Ohio University, and was with the Army Specialized Training Program at Purdue university.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure held a reception at their home for the couple immediately following the ceremony. White flowers decorated the rooms and a three tiered wedding cake centered the candlelighted table.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip Mrs. Rigo was wearing a white wool gabardine suit with melon colored accessories. She wore an orchid.

MRS. SADA BURROUGHS of 331 South Prospect street entertained with a dinner last night in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. W. Leonhardt, who was celebrating her birthday. The table was lighted by tall white tapers and centered with a large decorated birthday cake. The evening was spent socially and Mrs. Leonhardt received several gifts. Present with the honor guest was her husband and the following: Mr. and Mrs. Faye Bergandine, Mrs. Myrtle Bergandine and Mrs. Claire Jarvis of Marysville, Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Burroughs, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burroughs, Mrs. Russell Wilhelm and Mrs. Effie McCrery.

MRS. GLENN WILLIAMS was entertained by a group of friends last night with a dinner at Ringer's Inn. Awards in bridge were won by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. E. M. Compton and Mrs. Hal Barringer. The honor guest, who is moving out of the city, was presented a gift. Also present were Mrs. Fred Morris, Mrs. Kenneth Fields, Mrs. Edgar Christman, Mrs. Victor Michel and Mrs. Cecil Gabler.

Mrs. Clifford Borland of Sheridan road entertained members of the Cinderella club Thursday evening when the birthday of Mrs. Clifford Hall was honored. Euchre was played with honors going to Mrs. Harold Tobin and Mrs. Howard Rizer, first; Mrs. Walter Miller, lone hand; Mrs. Joe Wilson, floating and Mrs. Marguerite Camp, consolation. Mrs. Harold Coffey of West Fairground street will entertain members at the next meeting.

Mrs. Tom Greenland of Davids street entertained the Senior Starlight club Wednesday night. A large birthday cake centered the table, honoring the birthdays of three members. Bridge awards went to Mrs. Jacob Ebert and Mrs. Harry Hoffman, with the latter taking the floating award. Mrs. Delmas Redding, who attended as a guest, assisted the hostess with serving.

Mrs. Frank Ansley of 506 South Prospect street entertained Thursday evening with a family dinner party complimenting her niece, Mrs. Harvey Baxter of Coral Gables, Fla., who is visiting here with Mrs. Ansley and another aunt, Mrs. T. E. Andrews of 435 North Main street.

Weddings

When Miss Mary Ellen Young, daughter of Mrs. Lois Young of 325 Owens street became the bride of Harold Fry, seaman 1/c, Monday evening the guests included Mrs. Ralph O. Young, sister-in-law of the bride. Through an oversight her name was omitted in the account of the wedding published in Thursday night's issue of The Star. The ceremony was read by Rev. Garrison Roebuck, pastor of the First United Brethren church, at the parsonage. The bridegroom, who is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fry of Oxford, will leave Aug. 1 for San Francisco, Calif. to join his ship.

Miss Maxine R. Hazlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hazlett of 402 Fies avenue, became the bride of Lester A. Culp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culp of 841 Adams street, Wednesday evening in Napoleon.

The bride wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Attendants were the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Culp are both employes of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. For the present they will make their home at the Adams street address.

Kannapolis, N. C., is the largest unincorporated city in the United States.

The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Robertson of Caledonia. Mr. Crosby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Crosby of Wilkensburg, Pa., and Mr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. James of Union City, Ind.

Miss Dorothy Robertson approached the altar on the arm of her father and Miss Catherine was escorted by her uncle, Hugh Robertson. Both girls were given in marriage by their father before the altar banked with palms and white gladiolas and lighted by candles in seven branch candlelabra. The double ring services were read by Rev. W. M. Spartz of Wilkensburg and Rev. John D. Green of Mt. Vernon. Assisting was Rev. R. S. McCutchen, pastor of the church.

Preceding the ceremony, a half hour of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Robert Ulsh, organist of Forest, and Miss Barbara Miller of Columbus and Mrs. Carl Bailey of Marion, vocalists. The candles were lighted by John Robertson, brother of the brides and Raymond Cox.

For her wedding, Miss Dorothy Robertson chose a gown of white marquisette, made with long sleeves, a high neckline finished with a Peter Pan collar, a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a Mary Queen of Scots fingertip length veil and carried a white Bible to which was fastened a shower of gypsophila. Miss Jeannette Pugh of Radnor, who was her maid of honor wore a green marquisette dress and the bridesmaid, Miss Betty Geyer of Pottsville, Pa., wore yellow marquisette.

Miss Catharine Robertson was attired in a bridal gown of white frosted marquisette, made in princess style to that of her sister. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms and she also carried a white Bible, to which was fastened a shower of gypsophila. Serving as her maid of honor was Miss Mary Faye McMillan of Edison, who wore a pink dress fashioned with a taffeta top and net skirt. Miss Georgiane Linnert of Chagrin Falls as bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue having a lace top and marquisette skirt. All the attendants wore pearl earrings, gifts from the brides, and all wore halos of flowers in their hair from which fell shoulder length veils. They each carried a colonial bouquet of roses and delphinium.

Robert Crosby of Wilkensburg served his brother as best man. Serving as best man for Mr. James was Wayne Barr of Dayton. Ushers were Frank Robinson and Cnet Turner of Dayton, Robert Jones of Sewickley, Pa., and Robert Haas of Caledonia.

For her daughters' wedding, Mrs. Robertson chose a dress of flowered marquisette with white accessories. Mrs. James wore a green crepe dress with brown accessories and Mrs. Crosby was attired in grey crepe with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held for relatives and friends at the Robertson home. Among the 75 guests present were many college friends from Otterbein college in Westerville including the dean of women, Mrs. Nora Porter. Serving were Miss Dorothy Guy of Dayton, Miss Theda Guy of Delaware and Miss Janet Geddis of Caledonia.

The new Mrs. Crosby attended Blackstone College for Girls before entering Otterbein College. Both Mrs. Crosby and the new Mrs. James graduated from Otterbein in June. They were pledged to Rho Kappa Delta sorority. Mrs. James was also a member of Sigma Zeta, national science honorary fraternity.

Mr. Crosby is a graduate of Shenendowah Junior college and also of Otterbein where he was affiliated with Eta Phi Mu fraternity and Sigma Zeta, national science honorary. He is employed as a chemist in the Tennesseee Eastman Corp., in Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he and his bride will make their home.

Mr. James also graduated from Otterbein College and was a fraternity brother of Mr. Crosby. He is a student at Bonebrake Seminary in Dayton and minister of Wayne Chapel in the same city. They will make their home at the Seminary.

When Mrs. Crosby left for a short wedding trip, she was dressed in a black shantung dress with white eyelet trim and white accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses and a gold pin, a gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. James wore for her wedding trip, a two piece dress having a plaid blouse and white pleated skirt. White accessories, with a corsage of pink roses and a moonstone pin, a gift from the bridegroom, completed her costume.

Among the pre-nuptial parties given for the two brides was a miscellaneous shower given last week by Miss Wilma Geddis of Caledonia.

Hearts were played and awards were won by Miss Mary K. Stone and Miss Mary Douce.

The honor guests found their gifts by following streamers leading from a large map to each end of the dining room table. The hostess was assisted in serving by her mother and sister, Mrs. Ada Geddis and Miss Wanda Geddis.

Out of town guests were Miss Mary Fay McMillan of Edison, Miss Janetta Pugh of Radnor, Miss Betty Geyer of Pottsville, Miss Lee Lohr of Grove City, Mrs. Russell Fisher and Mrs. Lester Mason of Galion and Mrs. Robert Ulsh of Forest.

Marion Girl And Father Reunited After 14 Years

A Marion girl and her father have been reunited after a separation of 14 years. The girl is Miss Olly Sneak, 18, and the father is Frank Sneak of Washington, D. C.

Miss Sneak has lived for a year and a half in the home of Mrs. Haze Bell at 149 East Fanning street. Her mother lives in Carey.

Mr. Sneak is an artist. He began a search for his daughter about two months ago by going to Carey where he had heard she lived. A friend there directed him to Marion where he learned with a friend of Mrs. Bell. Inquiries led to his discovery of his daughter.

Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. Bell, gave a dinner Thursday night in honor of Mrs. Sneak. Those present were Mrs. Dolores Rank and son, Calvin, Jr., Helen Mae Northcutt, Pluma A. Biggs and Mary Jean Sattler of Portsmouth, Arlene, Dorcas and Wilma Jo Hopkins, J. A. Aldrich and Mr. Sneak.

Miss Sneak left Friday morning with her father for Washington where she will make her home with him.

Former Prospect Man Married in Maryland

Word has been received by relatives here of the marriage of Miss Annie L. Greene, daughter of Mrs. I. G. Greene of Havre de Grace, Md., to Pfc. Howard R. Miley, formerly of Prospect, now stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., which took place July 20 at 7:30 p. m. at the Baptist parsonage in Havre de Grace. Rev. J. C. Ledbetter officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a Copenhagen blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Wilmer J. Galls of Aberdeen, matron of honor, was dressed in white and wore a corsage of red rosebuds. Mr. Galls acted as best man. The ceremony was attended by a few close relatives and friends of the couple.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of the bride's mother where a reception was given by Mrs. Greene and the bride's sister, Mrs. Harold D. Cole. Pfc. and Mrs. Miley are now on a brief honeymoon trip. When they return they will make their home at 126 Wilson street in Havre de Grace.

War Time Savings Is Part of Post-War Planning
One thing you will never be criticized for hoarding during War Times, is your purchasing power. Every dollar you save now—by investing in War Bonds or by depositing it in a Savings Account—can do double duty toward making possible the better world for which we are all fighting, after Victory is achieved. First, the dollars you save now will enable you to buy many things you have denied yourself, once our factories turn from war production to production for peace. But second and more important, the dollars you save now to spend after the war, are going to help make jobs for the returning soldier.

Voters Who Have Moved from Their Home States Seen As Problem for Democrats

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., July 29—Democratic Chairman Hannegan's urgent plea that Democrats bend effort to turn out the possible vote this November as the best means of helping their cause is based upon an appraisal of the situation in the Democratic party. For President Roosevelt himself will actually decrease part upon the ability of the party to get workers to mail their home states or to register and vote this fall. It is known that the Democrats have to get these people into the polls come November if they are to triumph. Three out of every four Roosevelt to Dewey supporters, according to Institute polls, are shown in the following table. The Dewey-Roosevelt ratio today of people who will probably have not voted before in the election district where they live—a group which includes those who have never bothered to vote, those too young to vote before, as well as those who have shifted their place of residence and must therefore take time out to qualify for voting in November.

Those Who Haven't Voted in Their Districts

Favor Roosevelt	59%
Favor Dewey	41

In other words, among those who have not voted in the districts where they now live, for every 100 who stay away from the polls in November, the Democrats stand to lose 59 votes to only 41 for the Republicans.

What is even more important without the above group a Dewey victory would be assured today, as the following table indicates:

Those Who Have Voted Before in Districts Where They Live

Favor Roosevelt	48%
Favor Dewey	52

The extent of the job facing the Democrats is emphasized by the fact that Institute figures brought up to date show well above 10,000,000 potential voters who have not voted in any election in the districts where they now reside.

FINISHED BEEF NOW IN DEMAND

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 29—Slaughterers want highly finished beef and are willing to pay premiums for such choice stock but there's little demand for lower grade offerings.

Prices for the best grades were up this week, the top reaching $17.75, the highest on record for any July in the past 25 years and only slightly lower than the 1943 peak. Meantime, offerings valued at less than $16 have found a slow market.

This situation exists at a time when all signs point to heavy marketing of grass fed cattle direct from the range. Observers of the beef industry expect relatively few grassers to be sent to feed lots for finishings.

Though the big marketward movement of cattle has not started and is not expected to reach a peak until October, buyers have reported a noticeable increase in grassers and unfinished cattle, some of them not even good enough to classify as cutters, appearing at the markets.

Anticipating an increase in cattle slaughter, the war food administration has ordered federally inspected slaughterers to increase from 35 to 45 per cent the quantity of beef which must be set aside for military and other government use.

The order, effective Sunday, affects choice, good, commercial and utility grades of beef, but not canner and cutter grades.

Medium, common and average-good grade steers and yearlings finished the week fully 50 cents lower, but choice grades were strong to 25 cents up. The week's top was $17.75. Most weight hogs moved up to ceiling prices this week. The top price was $14.75. Lamb receipts were increased compared with last week. Spring lambs topped at $14.75.

Basement Game Room Is Easily Installed

With travel limited by gasoline rationing and transportation restrictions, the home is once more the center of entertainment.

A basement game room, therefore, is more than ever to be desired. Building such a room yourself is not a difficult job.

Insulating board will conceal rough, cold stones or cement walls and make the basement as warm and dry as the rest of the house. No further finishing is required, as insulating board provides its own decoration.

On the Sales Tax Limb

CRITICS of Ohio's retail sales tax are busy again with their attempts to saw off the sales tax limb while they are sitting on it. Petitions are being circulated proposing an amendment to the state constitution which, if adopted, would abolish the tax entirely.

It is possible the petitions may get the total of signatures before Aug. 9 needed to put the proposed amendment on the ballot in November. It is possible if the proposal goes on the ballot that the public will approve it. In the meantime, however, no alternative is proposed to replace the $60,000,000 of revenue produced annually by the tax—revenue which is the backbone of the state's income.

The initiative is not being used improperly in this case, but it stands to reason that if any group intends to try to eliminate the chief source of Ohio's income it should propose simultaneously a substitute source so every citizen asked to support the negative action may know what positive action will follow. Ohioans may not like their sales tax, but they should remember that as sales taxes go—and they are now the rule, rather than the exception—this state's method is accounted one of the best.

Ten Years of FHA

AFTER a decade of continuous activity as a federal sponsor of the nation's housing team—the public which buys houses, the builders who erect them and the banks which finance them—FHA is looking forward to post-war opportunities.

FHA was created under the national housing act, approved in 1934, and since then has transacted an average business of more than a billion dollars a year, all of it directly concerned with meeting the country's insatiable need for more adequate housing. All its business, of course, represents an equivalent amount of private business; it secures, does not make, loans. Losses have been light.

At present, FHA is concentrating on housing to meet war needs. But its wartime activities have been the result of a shift of emphasis, not of principles. Before the war, it was doing virtually the same thing, and when the war is over it will be ready with experience and the prestige it has earned to help the housing team meet the demands of peacetime.

Perhaps no single new agency of government has put down deeper roots. Certainly few of the new agencies have had the benefit of a charter which enabled them to be so useful with so little interference in the affairs of those who used them.

Senator Hattie

SEN. HATTIE CARAWAY'S defeat in the Arkansas primary is an ironic political circumstance in an election year which will find both parties making the strongest appeal in history to women voters.

Mrs. Caraway came to the senate in 1931 by a governor's appointment and a "courtesy" election which gave her the unexpired term of her late husband, Thaddeus C. Caraway. In 1932 she emerged from her publicity role as the only woman in the upper house and became the issue in one of the late Huey P. Long's most sensational antics—his political invasion of Arkansas to win her nomination in a knock-down-and-drag-out primary fight. She thus became the first woman to sit in the senate as the result of a regular nomination and election; she was reelected in 1938 for the term ending in 1945.

Her work in the senate has been inconspicuous. She never participated in debate, though she worked hard at committee assignments. Her major committees are agriculture and forestry, and commerce. In political philosophy she became classed as a liberal Paradoxically, her most conspicuous trait as a legislator was her inconspicuousness. It is safe to say that most of her fellow citizens long since had ceased to be aware of her symbolic presence in the senate—the only woman ever to sit there as a result of election. If her presence proved anything, it proved that the expectation of woman's impact on political affairs—merely as women—is likely to be vastly greater than realization.

Today and Tomorrow

Firm Stand Against Possible Argentine Aggression on Neighbors Advocated.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE character of the Argentine dictatorship revealed to be a Nazi-Argentine affair when Col. Perón, on June 10, committed the government "to the total mobilization of the country" and called upon "all the best minds of the nation . . . to know war, to study and understand it, as the only way of reaching a complete solution of the problem that may be presented to us, and which we shall have to resolve if some day God should decide that the clarion call of war must resound on the banks of the River Plate."

A dictatorship preparing for total war is not a neutral state, and its neighbors would be guilty of criminal negligence if they failed to take all necessary measures to stop the development of this new aggressive state before it can become formidable.

There is no doubt whatever that the Argentine dictatorship intends external aggression. Our government and the other American republics have conclusive evidence that the Bolivian government was overthrown last winter by a conspiracy fomented in Argentina. As Secretary Hull said at that time the Bolivian aggression was "but one act committed by a general subversive movement having for its purpose steadily expanding activities on the continent."

The countries immediately threatened by the Argentine fascists are its immediate neighbors, Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia and Chile. This general subversive movement is now to be backed by a military machine mobilized for total war.

Collective Security Issue

By world standards, Argentina obviously is not capable of becoming a great military power. But in South America, as compared with her smaller near neighbors, she already has great military superiority, and can easily make it absolute. Thus the issue of collective security is posed now in practical form within the Western Hemisphere.

We have in our midst a state intent on aggression, organizing for aggression, and capable of aggression. If we accept this situation, if we do not organize the collective defense of our threatened neighbors, if we appease the Argentine dictatorship, the solidarity of the American republics is destroyed, and all our plans and promises for an organized peace in the world will have become a mockery before we have even begun to write them down on paper.

It will be to the everlasting credit of Secretary Hull that he has seen the gravity of the issue. Though he has moved with the utmost forbearance, with scrupulous respect for the views and wishes of our sister republics and of our other allies, he has not faltered with the issue nor flinched.

We have a right to believe that all the United Nations will recognize that there is at stake here no special and exclusive interest of the United States, nor even only the peace and solidarity of Pan-America, but the prospect of international law and order in the post-war world. If the American republics cannot throttle aggression in their own neighborhood, they will have disqualified themselves everywhere as guardians of the peace.

Not Convenient Time

This is, of course, an inconvenient moment to have to meet the issue. But let us not deceive ourselves: the disturbers of the peace will always pick a moment when it is inconvenient for the guardians of the peace to act.

The Argentina dictators are counting on our preoccupation with the great war, on British, American and Russian need for their exports, and upon exploiting the economic tensions in neighboring countries which are the consequence of the war. They believe that their position is strong enough to insure them against effective countermeasures while the great war continues, that when it ends the world's need of their supplies will, in combination with a general war weariness, guarantee them immunity for long enough to permit them to organize their military force and to infiltrate their neighbors.

They think they have us in a cleft stick. But they will be mistaken unless, as is now no longer in the least probable, we flinch. The United States in concert with our neighbors is quite capable, without subtracting anything that will be missed from its armed forces in the war, of reinforcing decisively and promptly the threatened states. The knowledge that this is so, and the assurance that we are prepared to act if called upon, already exist, except perhaps in the headquarters of the dictatorship.

Allies Set Back in China

Americans See Long Struggle To Beat Japanese.

CHINA'S PROGRAM—Rich in manpower but poor in modern machinery, China required 300,000 men and women to chip stones by hand to form airbases for U. S. planes.

By THOBURN WIANT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—Most Americans in the China-Burma-India theater figure it will take two years to knock out Japan after Germany has been flattened.

All are agreed that guerilla warfare will continue long after Japan's main armies have been defeated possibly 10 to 15 years.

I've just returned to the States after nearly two years of war reporting in the Middle East, China Burma and India.

When I left CBI a few days ago the situation in eastern China was extremely grave. There was widespread feeling that Japanese successes already had delayed the end of the war in China by several months. There was no indication as to where the Japanese would halt their current offensive.

Abandon Air Bases

Americans had been forced to blow up and abandon three air bases in eastern China. All non-combat personnel, including hospital patients, had been evacuated from the main American air base at Kweilin. Civilian Chinese there were offering as much as 100,000 Chinese dollars for any kind of a ride westward. The roads were choked with overloaded trucks, horse-and-mule-drawn carts and tired people lugging huge packs on their backs—all westward bound.

If the Japanese should decide to take Kweilin, the U. S. Air Forces would have to fall back to their new headquarters at Kunming, in far western China. And if the Japanese should go after Kunming—a possibility which the Chinese and the Americans never have overlooked—the U. S. air forces might have to get out of China altogether.

Japan Holds The Cards

The Japanese in China are able militarily to do just about anything they want. They hold the cards. There are no American ground troops in China, and the Chinese — worn out, underfed, woefully equipped—are capable only of delaying actions at best.

The tide in China never will turn until we seize a port on the eastern coast and pour in great quantities of men, equipment and supplies. I say "men" because the Chinese can't do the job alone, even with adequate equipment and supplies. Americans — thousands of them—will be needed.

The war in China will be won from the east, not the west.

Americans have done an amazing job of flying supplies from India across the world's worst mountains into China. Stilwell's forces, with whom I spent nearly five months in the northern Burma jungle, possibly will have the India-China land supply route opened by the end of this year.

But the supplies brought into China by air, plus those brought in by land, will be only a drop in the bucket to what will be required.

Since I arrived in CBI late in 1942, the situation has slowly improved, but even today—nearly two years later—CBI is definitely a Class C theater.

After the fall of Germany, months will be required to put CBI into Class A.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, July 29, 1934.

Funeral services were set for Tuesday for Marie Dressler, who died the preceding day at Santa Barbara at the age of 62. She was a veteran actress of stage and screen.

Gerald Bohan, 17, of Canton and Bernard Bohan, 18, of Ashley, cousins, were killed when their automobile struck a telephone pole south of Ashley.

Ora DeWees, Marion police desk sergeant, was host to a group of city and county officials at his cottage at Sugar Grove lake.

James Burton Frey, 56, died at his home in Waldo.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Kennedy of Vernon Heights boulevard and Mrs. A. E. Cheney, Mrs. Pearl Cheney and Richard Cheney of St. James street were in Canton visiting John Kennedy and Arthur Cheney, who were working in that city.

Miss Nell Hinklin of New York City arrived in Marion to visit relatives and friends.

Robert Gunder and daughter Jean of Lancaster, Pa., returned home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Zed Gunder of near Prospect.

Miss Isabelle Callahan and Vergil A. Barkley, both of Marion, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Callahan of Leader street, by Rev. Franklin G. Markley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church.

Loss was estimated at $6,000 when fire destroyed three large barns north of Morral, owned by John Washburn of Morral.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, July 29, 1924.

Marion faced a new threat of police and fire department layoffs when the state supreme court notified city officials it probably would not rule on the city's occupational tax question until late in the fall. Merchants had agreed to pay the salaries of police and firemen to Sept. 1, hoping the case would be decided by that time.

Mrs Missouria C Midlam, 81, died at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs. L. E. Myers of East Center street.

Mrs. Edward T. Huber entertained with a luncheon at Hotel Harding for the pleasure of Mrs. William Lynn of Cincinnati and Miss Teresa Lynn of Chicago.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wolfe of South Vine street, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Aulton Cook of near LaRue and a son to Mr. and Mrs Earl Ward of northwest of LaRue.

Dr. S. Parks Cadman of Brooklyn opened the Marion Chautauqua season with a lecture on "The Mission of the Republic." He declared the preservation of righteousness, the carrying on of democracy and the establishment of a temperate and economic prosperity were part of America's mission. Preceding the address, the Marion Canto club, under the direction of Ernst Carl, presented a musical program. Rev. C. L. Allen, president of the Chautauqua board, presided.

Mrs. Elmer Hamilton was hostess to members of the O-Keh club at her home on Olney avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D Porter, superintendent and matron of the Marion county home, were visiting in Portsmouth.

Lumber on the Firing Line

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — If you are wondering why the War Production Board now is rationing lumber and you can't get boards for a new front porch or shingles for the leaky chicken house, take a look at the record wood is making in this war.

As the National Geographic Society recently pointed out, it would have seemed impossible a few years ago that an "age of wood" could compete with an "age of metals"—but that is happening.

A thousand board feet of lumber saves a ton of steel. Army engineers are using wood in trusses, plywood airplanes, hangers, bridges, trestles. It goes into life rafts, mine floats, life preservers. Experts figure that the use of wood in this war releases about five million tons of metal a year for war service.

Waste at Minimum.

That's only a portion of the wood story. Fifteen years ago, less than half of a felled tree served any useful purpose commercially. Now almost everything right down to the sawdust has commercial value. Sawdust is processed into a material that is almost as tough as steel. Out of it also comes sawdust plaster and several war important acids.

The bark of trees is being combined with wool to make fine cloth and among other things mattress fillings. Through hydrolysis, wood turns into industrial alcohol; and waste liquor from the sulphite pulp mills is converted into high-test alcohol that costs only 20 cents a gallon.

Wood goes into explosives, surgical dressings, rayon, wrapping materials, imitation leather, glycerine, substitutes for blankets, and yeast. Experts say there are more than 15,000 uses for lumber and its by-products, and thousands of these uses are vital to the war effort.

Gigantic Task.

The lumber industry has done a Paul Bunyan job of production in this war, but it hasn't been able to keep pace with consumption. In the matter of wood pulp alone, the industry last year produced more than nine million tons, but that was almost a 12 per cent decrease from the 1942 production, in a twelve-month period when consumption was soaring. This was because Canada was earmarking all its pulpwood for the British markets, and imports from Sweden, Finland and Norway had dropped to nothing at all. More important has been the labor shortage, which has played hob with the industry from the forests to the mills.

The rationing of lumber follows the same pattern as the rationing of metals and other vital materials. WPB balances production against consumption and allots the amounts which the Army Navy, war plants and various civilian distribution agencies may have.

If the war goes through another year, officials here are predicting there will be a nation-wide scrap lumber drive.

He was pointing to a couple of birds we had always thought were overfed sparrows.

"Lay their eggs in other birds' nests. Let the other birds hatch and raise the young. And here's a question: How comes it that the young cowbirds, never having seen or known a cow bird, will at once leave the nest and join cowbirds?"

"It must be political," we ventured, not heeding the twenty-five dollars anyhow. "There's a bunch of cranes over there by that maple."

There is a horse running on the New York tracks named Psychiatrist and we never like hearing the race track pronunciations. The other day we heard a fellow rushing to the window saying he had a hot tip on "Fizzycatatist."

Farm Smells

By Truman Twill

War news as a rule is too rugged to have chuckles in it, but even men making war reports saw the funny side in the story of the city boy with the United States army in Normandy who got a strong whiff of new-mown hay on a sentry post about 5 a. m. and turned in a poison gas alert.

Back home, thanks to instructions given air raid wardens and auxiliary policemen and firemen during civilian defense training, practically everybody knows the smell of new-mown hay is the sure sign of phosgene, one of the deadliest of poison gases.

But in Normandy, now in the haying season, the smell of new-mown hay turned out to be not phosgene, but new-mown hay, of all things. The city boy soldier got a pat on the back for being awake, but is taking a ribbing for not noticing the hay field he was standing in.

Poison gas aside, the incident makes an excuse to think about some of the other fine odors a city boy with a wide-awake nose would notice in the country. Fortunately the scientists haven't spoiled any of the others by dishing up a poison gas that smells like the same thing—

Such smells as the perfumed breeze that blows off a wild strawberry bed on a slope in a pasture lot; the heady fumes from a basketful of ensilage; the damp, earthy odor of the spring house where the milk is set to cool;

The delicate bouquet of dew-wet grass in the interval between the first rays of the sun and the first full burst of sunlight over sprouting fields; the dusty scent of bins of wheat and oats.

The dank, exotic incense wafted coolly from the heart of a dense woods at mid-day; the whiff of crisping bacon borne from a smoky farm kitchen to the sensitive nostrils of hungry men in a hurry to get the morning chores done.

The ineffable smells that lurk in the storage cellars where lie treasures of canned fruits, jellies, pickles, cider, potatoes, apples and the bounty of the land; the essence of pine needles wafted down from the towering trees to a Sunday afternoon sleeper on the ground below.

The fresh smell of the fields and woods after a summer rain; the tantalizing suggestion of fish waiting to be caught in the mist that rises off the creeks and rivers; the pungent odor of the barn and its inhabitants;

The aroma of fields of clover; the [illegible] stench of buckwheat; the musty fragrance of plowed ground and the blinding retort of an outraged polecat rising in the moonlight's shimmering haze. May that city boy in Normandy smell many a farm smell—and may all of them be as harmless and as good as new-mown hay.

So They Say—

It is typical of this country of ours that the people plan out and do things for each other not for reward, but because they are human beings and because that is the American way.—Gov. Dewey of New York.

What is happening now is that, logistically speaking, we are getting close to the point where we can force the enemy in the field to stand up and fight. But I have no illusions but that the fighting which the enemy puts up will be bitter and costly.—Navy Secretary Forrestal.

The railroads pulled us out of the depression of the Civil war. The automotive industry turned the trick in the 1920's. It is [illegible] my hunch that it will be something new—some X-expansion nobody can name for certain yet.—Ernest R. Beech, president Trans-Aviation Corp.

I am returning to America with an enhanced respect for Russia's growing industrial power. The output of your industrial machine contributed measurably in saving the world from Nazi enslavement.—Eric A. Johnston, United States Chamber of Commerce president, to Stalin.

COMMENT BANNED ON U. S. NEGOTIATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 29 — In an outgrowth of the Argentine affair, agriculture department employes have been instructed to provide no information or comment to the press, the trade or to "other non-governmental officials" on negotiations of this country with foreign governments, except when specifically authorized.

This instruction was given in a departmental memorandum signed by Secretary Wickard and War Food Administrator Marvin Jones.

The memorandum said "injudicious comments" attributed to an agriculture department official with regard to recent negotiations for the importation of Argentine corn to help meet a grain shortage in this county had had embarrassing repercussions in the South American country.

The instruction if rigidly adhered to, would affect sources of information on a broad field of farm department and war food administration activities. Included, for example, would be lend-lease food negotiations, discussions with Cuba with regard to purchase of sugar, negotiations with Canada with regard to importation of grains to supplement this country's feed supplies, and discussions and negotiations with other countries with regard to postwar commodity agreements.

Mrs. Mertie A. Bausman, 57, of 390 Monroe street, died of a heart ailment in a Columbus hospital at 11.15 p. m. last night. She had been ill one week and had entered the hospital about two hours before her death.

She was born April 4, 1887, in Circleville, O., to Tom and Alice England Strawser. She married Israel Bausman.

Mrs. Bausman was a member of the First United Brethren church and the Mary A. Canfield Council, Daughters of America. She had lived in Marion 39 years, coming here from Circleville.

Surviving with the husband are three daughters, Mrs. Florence Bovey of Westerville, Mrs. May Wintermute of Mansfield and Mrs. Virginia King at home, three sisters, Mrs. Hattie Stein of Stoutsville, O., Mrs. Maggie Morris of Circleville and Mrs Hazel Stout of Columbus, and a brother, C. C. Strawser of Circleville, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 1 p. m. in the Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue with Rev. Garrison Roebuck officiating. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 10 a. m. Sunday.

BULGARS ASK NAZIS TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

By The Associated Press

ISTANBUL, July 27—(Delayed)—The government of Premier Ivan Bagrianov has asked Germany to evacuate all German armed forces from Bulgaria and there are indications the request may be heeded according to information received here today. It was reported the Bulgars were told the government would defend the nation against attack "from any quarter."

The Germans at first refused to grant the Bulgarian request, the report said, on the ground that their other satellites might make the same demand and that prestige was involved, but developments suggest this stand was reconsidered.

The Bulgars meanwhile are granting Soviet demands for establishment of Russian consulates in most of the country's chief ports and towns.

They have pointed out to the Germans, the report further related, that the Nazi troops in Bulgaria, estimated now at less than two divisions, are of no military help and draw allied bombing.

Among indications the Nazis may be preparing to get out of Bulgaria was a report from Ruschuk that Germans, just withdrawn from Varna and Burgas, now are concentrated in Ruschuk on the Danube just across from the Romanian port of Giurgiu Another report said Germans in southern Bulgaria now are massed close to the Greeks' frontier.

One Lost Ohio Pilot Still Is Unreported

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, Me., July 29—Rescue squads which in two days have brought safely out of northern Maine's wilderness four pilots and one passenger who either crashed, parachuted or landed in woodlands, resumed their search today for the one airman unaccounted for in a flight of nine planes from Moncton, N. B., to Dayton, O.

The missing plane, piloted by Kenneth Tidd, 35, of Dayton, was believed down in the area between Baker lake and the St. John chain of lakes north of Moosehead lake.

It was in this section that searchers yesterday found James Curl, 34, of Dayton and Ben Thyson, 55, of Vandalia, O., general manager of the Dayton aircraft exchange, walking along a wood "tote" road, and located Earl Ashelford, 30, of Rockford, Ill., sitting unhurt on his wrecked craft. Thyson was a passenger in Curl's small plane.

Is Hitler Dead? Happy Thought But Not Likely

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Nine out of ten people I meet are speculating whether it really was Adolf Hitler's impressionist "double," Heinrich Berger, who lost his life in the bomb explosion in the dictator's headquarters July 20 as announced, or whether the Nazi fuehrer himself was killed.

That creates just the type of mystery the average person craves, and I'm afraid we sometimes go out of our way to try to substantiate such ideas just for the thrill anyhow. It strikes me we should try to rationalize this one, especially since we are approaching the end of the European war and the leadership in Germany is of vital importance.

First let's take as positive a stand as possible. I believe that until we have proof to the contrary we should accept as true the Nazi official story that Hitler is alive. This apparently is the attitude of allied officials and of the allied press. The reason is that there hasn't been a single fact produced thus far to discredit the claim seriously, and there are several points which support it indirectly.

No Proof He's Alive

It also must be said no actual proof has been given us that the fuehrer is alive. There's no use for instance, in assuming as that a voice we hear over the air is Hitler's, for the world is full of mimics who can imitate anything that talks. And photographs can tell whoppers.

So if you insist on believing Hitler dead — a rather jolly thought, as our British cousins might remark—you can't be sent to prison for it. However, don't bank on the argument that he couldn't have escaped from a bomb which exploded so close to him. Things stranger than that are happening daily in the war zones. I've seen plenty myself.

One strong argument (not proof) against Hitler being dead is that it isn't likely it could be kept secret many hours. Too many people would know it.

Then I think we must consider this: this decree (supposedly by Hitler) for total mobilization is in the hands of three of his chief captains—Reichs Marshal Goering; the crown prince, Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who has been given plenipotentiary powers, and Gestapo Chief Himmler, who's in command of all the armed forces within the reich. Each of this trio is personally ambitious and it's said that any one of them would cut the throats of the other two for half a dime.

Harmony Unlikely

Thus it's difficult to believe that they could work in harmony in such an unheaval unless a powerful hand was holding them in check. The present crisis is a "natural" for an adventurous man to seize power. It's no secret that the murderous Himmler would try to reach the top if Hitler weren't in the way.

The whole daring scheme of total regimentation of every man, woman and child in Germany, and the manner of execution, smack of Hitler's presence. He's the one who has the leadership to handle such a job, and has been so much the whole show in Germany that the ship would go on the rocks without him.

Hitler apparently has decided to withdraw his forces to his inner fortress and make a fight to the finish, unless he gets a compromise peace. Of course, under those circumstances there's always a possibility that the Nazi captains will quarrel among themselves, and in that case the powerful Himmler might usurp power. If that should happen, Hitler would indeed be killed. Pending that time, you may agree that it's safest to figure he's alive.

Fire Chief Asks for Ban on Bonfires As Two Grass Fires Threaten Buildings

Five fire alarms were answered Friday by Marion firemen, two of which were grass fires that might have resulted in considerable damage if they hadn't been extinguished promptly. After the increased number of calls Owen A. Sifritt, fire chief, requested that Marion residents cease lighting bonfires during the present dry weather and also to be extremely careful to put out lighted cigarets and matches before discarding them.

A bonfire at the Harvey Rasey home on Route 95, just east of Merchant avenue, set fire to a field and firemen were called at 1.11 p. m. yesterday. The flames halfway circled a garage and were brought under control just before they reached the house. Engine No. 1 and quad truck from Central station responded. No loss was reported.

At 1:38 p. m. sparks from an engine ignited grass along the Pennsylvania railroad at the end of Gill avenue setting fire to switch ties and traveling to the sawdust pile at Seiter Saw Mill in the rear of 808 Cheney avenue. Firemen have been called numerous times in the past week to extinguish the burning sawdust and Friday the smouldering pile was douced before the fire could make any headway. Firemen from the West Center street station responded. No loss was reported.

Trainmen dumped burning waste from a passing train along the Big Four railroad setting the grass afire at the end of Carhart street Friday at 1:40 p. m. Engine No. 1 from Central station responded extinguishing the flames just before they set fire to some nearby buildings, firemen reported.

A car owned by Franklin Sifritt of Windsor street was set afire at 8:20 Friday night when a lighted match was flipped into some gasoline that had leaked from the tank. The mishap occurred on South Prospect street near Center street where the car was parked. Wiring was burned when flames came under the engine and loss was estimted to be about $5. The quad unit answered the call.

The Ohio theater was filled with smoke Friday night at 9 p. m. when the theater ventulator fan sucked the smoke from a smouldering rubbish box which apparently had been ignited by a lighted cigaret flipped into the waste from the balcony exit to the theater. No damage was reported. Engine No. 1 and quad truck responded.

Rommel was reported moving reinforcements westward from the still quiet Caen front. It appeared that the whole great American push would force him within the next few days to pull back his forces roughly to a line running diagonally across northwestern France from Caen to Avranches, in the corner of the bases of the Normandy and Brittany peninsulas

This would give him a great expanse of wooded heights favorable for defense and shorten his front from the present 100 miles to 70 miles.

NEW DEAL LINKED TO CIO COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 29—An investigation under the Hatch "no-politics" act in the middle of a national election campaign was under consideration today by the Dies committee. It was being considered by the group on the basis of a report linking high government officials with activities of the CIO Political Action Committee (PAC) labeling that organization as "the political arm" of the New Deal.

Three Republican members of the committee investigating un-American activities called for a "thorough investigation" of the PAC and possible Hatch act violations as Chairman Martin Dies (D-Tex.) debated whether to turn over to the justice department or pursue further through his committee evidence in the report he made public yesterday

Prepared by Robert E. Stripling, chief committee investigator, the report cited records of numerous telephone calls and telegrams exchanged between the PAC's New York office and government officials here.

What was said in the conversations and messages, the report did not pretend to know, but Stripling said they were paid for by the PAC.

The act, sponsored by Senator Hatch (D-N M.), bans political activity by most federal officials.

Indians Hand Yanks 13 to 7 Game with 10 Walks, 2 Errors

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 29 — The Cleveland Indians gave the New York Yankees a lesson in baseball today as they won the second game of the series, 13 to 7, before 20,000 fans at League park.

Jim Bagby, Jr., son of the former Cleveland pitching great, pitched the Indians to victory over the Yankees, who lost their fourth game in a row. Bagby, who was signed by Cleveland after he was released by the Washington Senators, allowed the Yankees seven hits and struck out three batters.

Bagby received excellent support from his mates, who collected 13 hits off Yankee pitching. Roy Cullenbine, Cleveland outfielder, led the attack with a double and a single in four trips to the plate.

Joe Berry, veteran Yankee hurler, was charged with the defeat. He was relieved in the fourth inning by Ernie Bonham, who was touched for four runs on three hits, including a home run by Cullenbine.

Yankee batters were unable to solve Bagby's delivery. Only Nick Etten, Yankee first baseman, and Johnny Lindell, who batted for Berry in the fourth inning, were able to get a hit off the Cleveland pitcher.

Etten's double in the fourth inning was the only extra base hit off Bagby. Lindell's single was the only hit off him after the fourth inning.

Bagby received excellent support in the field. Outfielder Roy Cullenbine made a perfect throw to the plate to cut down Johnny Lindell in the fourth inning when Lindell tried to score from second on Etten's double.

Jim Bagby, Jr., had to throw on the fourth pitch to retire the first batter in the fourth inning. Two Yankee batters were retired on pitched balls. Bagby struck out two batters in the fifth inning and retired the side in order in the sixth inning.

Two Yankee pitchers were touched for home runs by Cullenbine. Bonham was the victim in the fourth inning and Vernon Kennedy, relief pitcher, in the seventh inning.

Cullenbine batted in three runs with his home run and single. Etten batted in two runs with his double and single.

Marion's run, came in two innings with the first being in the seventh inning as Al Jeske led off with a double to right field, followed by a single by Art Anders, Jeske scoring. Kuhlman was safe on a fielder's choice, as Anders was caught at third, and stole second, to score as Paul Vickery doubled to left field. Vickery battled for Pilleckas. Pilleckas then flied to left and Swota, running for Vickery, was caught off second to end the rally. Smith started the eighth off with a triple to the right center field wall and scored as Joe Bellamy flied to right. Carlsen, batting ahead of Bellamy flied to right. Granzig walked and Al Jeske hit his second double of the game to plate the Cub's last marker as Anders fanned.

Louisville Pitcher Gets No-Hit Game

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, July 29 — Russ Stein hurled a no-hit ball game here yesterday as he pitched the Louisville, Ky., St. Agnes team to an 11 to 0 victory in the opening game of the first round of the National Junior softball tournament.

Stein gave the Columbus Sunshine club its one run when he walked Charles Swank in the first inning. He later scored when Shortstop Keller Reide fumbled a ground ball and threw wide to first.

The second game, between the Birmingham, Ala., firemen and the Dayton, O., Whiteys was called in the seventh inning because of rain with Birmingham ahead 6-2. The game will be completed today.

During the late glacial period, 15,000 to 25,000 years ago, Alaska was without ice, although glaciers covered most of North America.

BREWS GET REVENGE, BEAT BIRDS TWICE

By The Associated Press

Manager Nick Cullop of the Columbus Red Birds is busy digging that American association team he should have had finished a couple of hours after leading the league All-Stars to their 18-0 massacre of the Milwaukee Brewers Saturday night.

Skipper Nick had to send his own club against the outraged league leaders last night in a double-header launching a five-game series and the boiling Brews revengefully thumped the Red Birds twice, 8-5 and 6-2.

Tonight, the Birds—knocked from third to fourth place by the double reversal—are scheduled to face Brewer ace Earl Caldwell, who is gunning for his 16th victory against two defeats.

The Brewers now are in front by 11 games, gaining a half-game over the second-place Louisville Colonels who played a single encounter last night, edging Minneapolis, 6-4.

Toledo's Mud Hens captured third place, two percentage points behind the Colonels, with a twin victory over Kansas City, 2-1 in seven innings and 8-7 in a 14-inning nightcap. In a lone contest, seventh-place Indianapolis frolicked to a 13-1 win over St. Paul.

Marion Man Is Held to Grand Jury in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, July 29 — Triple charges were brought against Arnold Townsend alias Donald Massie, 32, of Galion, and he was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury Thursday afternoon when arraigned in Mayor William Amann's court. Bond for the three charges totaled $2,000. He pleaded not guilty to all three charges. He gave his home as Marion, but has been living intermittently in Galion.

The charges were filed by both his wife, Mrs. Massie, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Blanch Franklin, involving assault with intent to kill on Tuesday night. He was bound over under $500 bond on each charge. The third charge was that of disturbing the peace, wilful and malicious destruction of property, and causing distress to a bedfast patient. This charge was filed by Otto Snider, and Townsend was bound over under $1,000 bond on this charge.

Bowlers Back 'Em

The Bowlers Victory Legion has pledged to raise $1,000 000 during 1944-45 for recreation equipment for battle area service men. Last season the ten-pin topplers raised $187,000 which went for 200 000 decks of cards, 325,000 pocket-size fiction books, 17,254 fishing kits, 100,000 pocket-size games of various kinds, and 100,000 sewing kits. The bowling leagues also invested $248,000,000 in war bonds. Nice going, fellahs!

MURRAY, THOMPSON DRAW SMALL CROWD

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 29—Lee Q. Murray of the Bronx and Elbert (Turkey) Thompson of Los Angeles met last night in a 10-rounder before the smallest Madison Square Garden crowd of the year, and mustached Murray won what fighting occurred.

Only 5,016 turned out for the tame affair, paying $11,408 to see the heavyweights push and pull each other around the ring. There was nothing resembling a knockdown, although each has scored 25 knockouts.

Murray, weighing 206¾, reared six inches over his barrel-chested foe who came in at 207¼. Handicapped by Murray's advantage in reach and height, Thompson put his head down and bore in and then did nothing about it except clinch after getting inside.

Murray, with a flicking left, tried to keep Thompson away while retreating, but there were few solid punches landed even after Referee Arthur Donovan warned them in the fourth to "get in there and fight or I'll stop it." Donovan saw it as a draw, but the judges pointed the finger at Murray by a narrow margin.

I know a land where the streets are paved
With the things we intend to achieve;
It is walled with the money we meant to have saved
And the pleasures for which we grieved.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken
And many a coveted boon
Are stored away there, in that land somewhere—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

Bob Chester Orchestra To Be at Cedar Point

Bob Chester and his orchestra, featuring Betty Bradley, will be at Cedar Point's ballroom the week-end of Aug. 4 and 5.

Nine years ago Chester organized his band with a group of unknown musicians. Since that date he has played in most of the popular hotel ballrooms, in the biggest theaters and for the major radio chains.

Each week-end the Cedar Point ballroom plays host to one of the top dance bands of the nation. Cedar Point docks the big lake steamers at its own private pier and offers hourly ferry service across Sandusky Bay. The S.S. Theodore Roosevelt makes a daily run from Cleveland's E. 9th Street Pier to Cedar Point and return.

Roger Touhy Film at Ohio

Preston Foster and Victor McLaglen Starred in Story of Gangster's Life.

"Roger Touhy, Gangster" starring Preston Foster and Victor McLaglen is now playing through Monday at the Ohio theater, bringing to the screen the story of the 1930's and the toughness and terror that spawned a gangster like Touhy.

The film shows many of Touhy's dramatic moves with the climaxing action coming with his escape from Statesville prison in Joliet, Ill. One of the thrilling scenes is the capture of the escaped leader, with most of his gang, about two months after his daring escape.

Playing with the gangster film is a March of Time feature, "Back Door To Tokyo" of special interest now since attacks were renewed on Japan.

"The Rains Came" starring Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy and George Brent and "Ladies of Washington" with Trudy Marshall, Ronald Graham and Anthony Quinn are the two films billed for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Louis Bromfield's book "The Rains Came" returns to the screen bringing the story which has the colorful city of Ranchipur, India, as the setting. The earthquake, flood, fire and plague which are reproduced faithfully from the book provide some breath-taking moments. Power is cast as Major Rama Safti, Myrna Loy as the armorous Lady Esketh and George Brent as the world-weary Tom Ransome.

"Ladies of Washington" is a comedy based on the problem of the housing shortage faced by young war workers in our national capital.

"Manpower" headed with the three-star combination of Marlene Dietrich, George Raft and Edward G. Robinson will be shown Friday through Monday.

The film's story concerns the rough and tumble friendship of two danger-loving linemen whose lives become bound up with a blonde troublemaker.

Many Star Entertainers In Cast of Picture at Palace

"Two Girls and a Sailor" Heads Program Opening Sunday; Double Feature To Follow.

"Two Girls and a Sailor" starring Van Johnson, Gloria DeHaven and June Allyson, will be shown at the Palace theater Sunday through Wednesday. Added to the stars appearing in the film are Lena Horne, Gracie Allen, Virginia O'Brien, Jose Iturbi, Harry James and Xavier Cugat and their orchestras.

June and Gloria play a pair of night-club entertainers born and brought up in the theater. During their engagement in a New York spot, Gloria received orchids from a mysterious "somebody." As June, anxious for her sister's happiness, tries vainly to discover the identity of the unknown admirer, Jimmy Durante, an ex-vaudevillian, aids with the search. The discovery isn't made until after they have started a Service Canteen with the aid of a generous benefactor.

A double feature, "Her Primitive Man," starring Robert Paige, Louise Albritton and Robert Benchley and "Gambler's Choice" with Chester Morris, Nancy Kelly and Russell Hayden, is billed for Thursday through Friday.

"Her Primitive Man" is a comedy set against the background of a sophisticated gambling place where the turn of a wheel changes the fortunes of the players in a twinkling second.

"Gambler's Choice" tells almost all that can be told of New York's lush and lawless "tenderloin district" as it was known in the gaslight era during the 1890's. Chester Morris is cast as the owner of the biggest, best and most expensive gambling house and Russell Hayden plays an honest police lieutenant. Nancy Kelly is the love attraction.

MARTEL CLUB MEETS

Martel 4-H club met Monday in the High school. Plans for the fair were discussed and a review of projects was given.

Sullivan War Drama Billed

Lives of Five Heroic Brothers in Movie Story at Marion.

"The Sullivans," starring Anne Baxter, Thomas Mitchell and Selena Royale, and "Blockbusters," showing the East Side Kids, are scheduled at the Marion theater starting with a midnight show Saturday and playing through Monday.

"The Sullivans" is the story of the lives of the famous brothers of Waterloo, Ia., whose devotion to each other and to their country stirred the nation.

"The Son of Monte Cristo," starring Louis Hayward, Joan Bennett and George Sanders and "She's a Soldier Too," with Beulah Bondi and Jess Barker, will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

Against a background of bold heroism, diplomatic intrigue, romance and adventure, "The Son of Monte Cristo" unfolds a story concerning the young and gallant count, son of France's greatest swordsman, and the villainous dictator of the little grand ducal principality of Lichtenburg.

"She's a Soldier Too" brings the story of the reformation and humanizing of two old maids who live apart from war activities, and like it, until, because of financial troubles, they are forced to rent rooms to a bunch of "swing-shift Suzies."

Scheduled to show Thursday through Saturday are "Yellow Rose of Texas" starring Roy Rogers, Trigger and Dale Evans, and "Freckles Comes Home."

In the western picture, Rogers poses as an itinerant cowboy employed as an entertainer on a showboat, Yellow Rose of Texas.

LARGE CROWD AT RICHWOOD RACES

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, July 29—A large attendance marked races at the Richwood fair yesterday afternoon when three races with a total purse of $1,200 were run. The 2:30 pace was won by Double Volo, owned by Andy Wilson, finishing first in all three heats.

A Richwood horse, R. T. C., owned by Charles Cheney finished first in the first two heats of the second race, a 2:17 pace. Lingo Direct owned by H. B. Lingo finished first in the first two heats of the 2:24 stake trot.

Light sprinkles of rain failed to dampen enthusiasm for entertainment presented last night by Union county Granges. "This Way Out," a rural comedy, was presented by Leesburg Grange. Also on the program was "The Minister's New Car," a comedy with a women's cast.

Final races were held this afternoon and final entertainment, including presentation of plays by Claiborne and Millcreek Granges and a review presented by Union county 4-H club members is scheduled for tonight.

Results of yesterday's races follow:

MAN NEAR PROSPECT TO SERVE ON FSA COMMITTEE

Carl J. Russell Appointed to Six-Year Term.

Carl J. Russell of near Prospect has been appointed Marion County Farm Security Administration committeeman to sherve for three years beginning July 1, 1944. Mr. Russell replaces Robert W. Zeig, whose three-year appointment has expired. Appointments are made by Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture.

Serving with Mr. Russell for the next 12 months will be Mrs. Mae Smith of near Marion and Clyde Beaver of near Marion. Mr. Russell is actively engaged in farming with his father on 385 acres in Waldo township.

The FSA County committee passes on all applicants for Farm Security loans, helps FSA families plan their farm and home operations for maximum effectiveness, and advises the county FSA supervisor on agricultural problems. This agency provides two types of supervised credit for eligible families. The first is a rehabilitation loan to low-producing farmers requiring credit to increase the productivity of their family-type farms. The second provides long-term, low-interest loans for purchase of desirable farms by tenant farmers. Both types of loans include advisory services by the County FSA supervisor and the three county committeemen. In Marion county six farm families are being helped to achieve farm ownership.

SHORT SESSION TRADING LAGS

Scattered Favorites Advance But Most Leaders Are Neglected.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 29—Stocks generally groped their way through today's short market session and, while scattered favorites managed to pin on modest advances, many leaders were unable to climb out of the losing rut.

Strong buying as well as selling incentives were lacking from the start and, with the ticker tape frequently napping, near-closing trends were slightly mixed. Transfers of around 250,000 shares were among the smallest for the past several months.

Occasional resistance was shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central and Public Service of N. J. On the offside most of the time were General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.), Southern Railway, DuPont and Kennecott.

PACIFIC

won three strategic heights, ranging up to more than 1,000 feet elevation.

Conservatively, 4,700 Japs have been killed on Guam through Thursday, one week after it was invaded, Nimitz reported. More than 2,000 others have been slain on Tinian and 21,038 have been buried on Saipan.

On Tinian, where the Japs built 4,500-foot Ushi airfield already is serving American planes, the Marines seized another airstrip near Gurguan point.

Marines Kill 20 to One

Richard W. Johnson, representing the combined allied press, reported from a flagship at Tinian that:

"The Leathernecks killed Japs at a ratio of better than 20 to 1."

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today announced his planes have sunk two more Japanese ships in the vicinity of Guam and north Dutch New Guinea and Thursday bombed, strafed and harassed 17 objectives.

RUSSIA

Prussia along that line. The Russians were reported 35 miles from the river in some sectors.

A weakness in any German plan to fight a battle for East Prussia along the Niemen lies in the fact Soviet forces already are across the river south of Kaunas, and are edging up on the southern border of East Prussia from positions northwest of captured Bialystok.

In Moscow the liberation of Lithuania was regarded as possible within a week, and liberation of Latvia and Estonia was expected in but little more time.

Approach Wislok River

In the drive toward Krakow the Russians were approaching the Wislok river, 90 miles to the east, the first of numerous north-south water barriers in that sector.

Premier Joseph Stalin announced the promotion to generals of the army for Col. Gen. I. F. Zakharov, whose second White Russian army took Bialystok, and Col. Gen. Ivan I. Maslennikov, whose third Baltic army freed Pskov.

The German radio said the Russians had been frustrated in attempts to cross the middle Vistula southeast of Warsaw yesterday.

The broadcast said Siaulial, Lithuanian rail junction, had been evacuated by the Germans, but that Nazi troops still were in Kaunas and that the Russians were more than six miles from that town.

One German transmission yesterday said Kaunas had been evacuated, but this was not borne out by subsequent Berlin announcements.

The Russians already had told of the capture of Siaulial.

Grim fighting was reported in the area of Siedlce, 30 miles east of Warsaw.

AIR RAIDS

enemy oil supplies and communications.

Twelve enemy planes were shot down during the day's operations, featured by an attack by more than 500 heavy bombers of the U. S. 15th air force on oil targets at Ploesti. American pilots, using instruments to penetrate a thick smoke-screen, left huge oil storage tanks enveloped in flames.

A total of 25 allied planes, including 19 bombers, were lost. Most of the bombers apparently were victims of intense flak, since escorting fighters prevented aggressive enemy interceptors from reaching them.

Rail yards at Florina, Greece, a Nazi railhead, and troop concentrations were bombed by Liberators. RAF Baltimores and Mustangs made a heavy attack on rail targets in Yugoslavia.

American Thunderbolts strafed the Crest Chatillon area in the Rhone valley, in France, hitting vehicles, trains and an airdrome. RAF Wellingtons started fires around a road and rail bridge at Menton, 15 miles east of Nice.

Fighter bombers attacked gun positions south of Florence and cut roads in that battle zone.

TWO BATHERS DROWN

CINCINNATI, July 29—Robert 7, and George, 11, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brate, drowned last night in Mill lake. Police recovered the bodies.

"Gasoline Alley" Will Be New Feature on This Page Monday

... And Walt doesn't care who knows it!

Starting Monday The Star's paby one day old you can't keep comic page characters will offer him at that age," King declares adults interest and enjoyment. "The baby has to be two days with introduction of the famous old, three days old, and so forth." and lovable "Gasoline Alley" group created and made popular with millions of people every- where by the talented artist, Frank King.

Included are Uncle Walt, the original character of the group, Phyllis, Skeezix, Nina, Peter, Judy, Uncle Bill, Corky, Avery, Doc, and others who appear in only occasional roles. All enter into a picture narrative as true-to-life persons, unfolding events in which drama, humor and romance provide daily entertainment certain to be enjoyed by all readers, young and old.

Valentine Day Gift.

It was on St. Valentine day in 1921 that Walt, then a bachelor, found the infant "Skeezix" on his doorstep. Artist King says he had no definite plans for Skeezix at that time, but the fact remains that since then Skeezix has been the central character of a steadily developing human interest story that has held the attention of newspaper readers numbering many thousands, and the number is increasing.

King says he takes no credit for the fact that Skeezix is the first comic strip character to start out as a baby and grow to manhood day by day in the public eye.

He Just Grew.

"When you start out with a baby and predict a great success for it.

Dr. Bundesen is well qualified for furnishing this information about baby's health. As Commissioner of Health and President of the Board of Health of Chicago, he put that city's infant death rate in half.

The Baby Manual is divided into four parts. The first is devoted to the prenatal care of the expectant mother. Such topics as the medical examination, how to foretell the date of birth, the clothing, exercise, diet and sunshine exposure of the expectant mother, as well as the signs of the more serious disorders of pregnancy are fully explained.

The second division is a discussion of the care of the baby in general—particularly the new born baby, but it gives rules to apply to all ages. Here the careful and minute and specific instructions about bathing and breast feeding and the care of the mother's breasts and nipples and the preparing of the bottle-fed baby's food, clothing, bathing and the arrangement of the sleeping room of the baby as well as how to overcome the simple disorders of infancy—such as gas and constipation—are explained and illustrated. One illustration is worth five pages of print, and Dr. Bundesen's illustrations are just as clear as his printed instructions.

Boswell once drove Dr. Johnson nearly frantic by asking him what he would do if he were shut up in a prison cell with a new born baby. I share the great man's baugh.

feelings because I confess that a little baby nearly scares me into fits. But a new mother without any previous experience is also like that and I don't blame her one bit for being bewildered. She needs just the complete sort of instructions Dr. Bundesen gives with nothing taken for granted and all the little details put in.

The third division of the book is given over to the premature baby and its special problems.

And the last division follows the first two years of the baby month by month—feeding, training and development ending up with a brief account and advice about infant illness. A sample but incomplete list of the subjects taken up in this section are—"When to give diphtheria prevention toxoid," "Scarlet fever and German measles and how to tell them apart," "Infantile paralysis," "Tonsils and adenoids," "Bed wetting," "Talking," "Baby's teeth."

TO BROADCAST SUNDAY

"Then You'll Remember the Day," a composition by Paul McEldowney now serving with the armed forces overseas, will be sung by Miss Dorothy Gail Stephenson on the Marion Entertains program Sunday at 12:30 p. m. over WMRN. The author and composer of the selection is the son of Mrs. Hazel Houser of North State street. Appearing on the program also will be Luann Kelch, soprano, and Ruth Morgan, pianist, of Columbus. The program is arranged and directed by Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"JACK hasn't changed," I commented. "As far back as I can remember, after he came to live with us, he always went into his own room and closed the door when he had a hard bit of home work to do for his next day at school. And he kept up the practice as long as I knew his daily routine."

"I wouldn't know about that," my father said a bit wistfully, and I scored myself for bringing to his remembrance the fact that he had known nothing of me between the day he left my mother and me, his four-year-old daughter, and the day—after my marriage to Dicky—when he found me, and ended his quest of years.

Deduced the Facts

"But I have deduced a background of intense application to problems," he went on more briskly, "form the way he attacks one now. His concentration is wonderful, and he has to be forced to take enough time for sleep or meals. He is working like that now, and I am sure Hugh will receive what he wishes, if it be humanly possible for Jack to give it to him."

"I share your optimism," I told him smiling, but any answer he might have made was forestalled by knocking on the door.

"The boys!" I said, with a tugging at my risibles.

"How do you know?" he asked, then answered his own question. "A signaling knock?" he queried, his eyebrows lifting, but I knew that his amazement was tinged with amusement rather than resentment.

Secret Knock

"Yes. It's the one they use on the door to the secret chamber in the smugglers' run. They practice it at every opportunity, they tell me, so that they will not get rusty. I must remind them that they need not use it here."

"Don't!" he adjured me as he went to the door. "It would be like the brushing the dew from the rose, or words to that effect. It would be a pity to deflate them in the least. That fine frenzy of enthusiasm over a task comes at its best only to early youth. Let them have it while they can."

"Thank you, Father," I said sincerely, "I shall be very glad to omit the reminder."

My last word punctuated his throwing wide the door. The boys were so close to the panels that its opening almost pulled them off balance.

"Good morning, boys," my father said cheerily. "I didn't have a chance to say it properly when I called you. And let me congratulate you on your promptness."

"Good morning sir, and thank you, sir," they chorused, and then they turned to me.

Motherly Pride

"Good morning, Mums," and "Good morning, Auntie Madge", they told me affectionately, and I returned their greeting with a sense of motherly pride in both of them, for Roderick, since early childhood, has been as much my maternal responsibility as has my own idolized son.

"I see you obeyed my injunction to look your best," I told them. "I am very proud of you both. And I am sure those Nazi agents will never dream that you are the same boys who took the blinders from their eyes last night."

"We sure were the country goons last night," Junior said, and Roderick echoed his chuckle. "All we needed was a milking pail in one hand, and a bunch of hay in the other."

"And most fotunate it was that you happened to be attired that way," my father commented. "You will be able to point out those three Nazis to the FBI men who will accompany us to the station."

No Instructions

"Now, I am not going to give you any directions as to what you are to say or do," he went on. "Each of you will be assigned to an FBI man who will tell you in detail just when you are to speak, and just what you are to do and say. Obey him to the letter, and be on your toes. Each FBI man will have a trailer near him to whom he will signal as soon as the Nazis have been identified, and these trailers will follow the three men until we have found out—and picked—the brains behind them."

The boys were palpably thrilled by the alluring melodrama spread out before them. They gulped, stammered their stereotyped "Oh, Gee", while their eyes were starry with their sense of responsibility and their anticipation of the stirring action to come. It was just as well, I thought, that they be brought down to earth for a time, and was glad when Gus appeared at the door and wheeled in a table with service for four.

"Here's your breakfast!" he announced.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Young Mothers

I AM VERY glad to see Dr. Herman Bundesen's Baby Manual put out in book form enlarged and brought up to date (published by Simon and Schuster, New York.) I have for years had this pamphlet "Our Babies," published by the Citizen's Health Committee, of Chicago. I keep it in my desk and refer to it when some question about baby feeding or care is asked me, and I have been instrumental in placing it in the hands of many a new mother.

It appeals to me as practical because it has such helpful illustrations showing exactly how to do the common regular procedures used in bringing up a baby. These are all simple enough to do when you know how, but the poor little beginning mother is apt to get quite confused about formula, and fat percentages and preparing mixtures and here Dr. Bundesen's lucid pictures explain things so anybody can understand. No details are left out.

All these good points, pictures included, are carried over from the pamphlet into his new book and a good deal of extra matter added. I recommend it very high-
